Who is Asmae Hagouch

Asmae Hagouch is a certified Moroccan life coach and the founder of Asma Awakening Academy, a digital platform she launched in October 2020. She specializes in feminine consciousness, self-healing, inner child work, and feminine embodiment. Her work is focused on helping Arabic-speaking women reconnect with themselves and achieve inner balance through specialized coaching programs and courses. Before establishing her academy, Asmae earned a Doctor of Pharmacy (Pharm.D.) degree from the Faculty of Medicine and Pharmacy of Rabat in 2014, providing her with a strong scientific background. In 2020, she formalized her passion for self-development by becoming a Certified Professional Coach through the International Association of Professionals Career College. Asmae utilizes her social media platforms, including Instagram and YouTube, to share educational content on emotional healing, healthy relationships, and consciousness development, offering deep insights to her community and followers.

Achievements of Asmae Hagouch

Asmae Hagouch founded Asma Awakening Academy in 2020, a leading online platform for Arabic-speaking women. The academy provides a safe and structured space for learning and personal development in the fields of consciousness and self-healing. She has developed and launched comprehensive training programs that have gained significant traction, most notably "The School of Self-Healing" (مدرسة التشافي الذاتي) and "Balanced Femininity" (الأنوثة المتوازنة). These courses offer practical curricula and clear steps to help participants achieve real transformations in their personal and emotional lives.
