Who is Ayat Jumaili

Ayat Jumaili is an Iraqi traveler and content creator based in the United States, renowned for her unique van life lifestyle. She travels full-time in a car she converted into a mobile home. Jumaili left a conventional life and routine job to pursue her dream of freely exploring the world, documenting her journeys and adventures on social media platforms, particularly YouTube and Instagram. Her van life journey began in 2023 after a period of meticulous planning and converting her vehicle with her father's help. Her content focuses on the daily details of her nomadic life, from the van conversion process to facing challenges like snowstorms and managing daily logistics on the road. Having grown up in America, she feels a sense of security starting her exploration across the United States and Canada. Before embarking on this lifestyle, she established a stable online income source through trading to ensure financial independence without relying on social media revenue. Ayat shares her stories with transparency, inspiring her followers to live a life beyond the ordinary.

Achievements of Ayat Jumaili

Ayat Jumaili has gained significant recognition as one of the most prominent Arab travelers in the "Van Life" community. She successfully converted her vehicle into a fully functional mobile home, documenting the process in educational and inspiring videos that have garnered hundreds of thousands of views, establishing her as a key reference for others interested in this lifestyle. She has undertaken and documented extensive solo road trips across numerous U.S. states, including California, Texas, and New Jersey, braving challenging weather conditions and sharing her experiences with courage. Jumaili was featured in a notable interview on Al Arabiya's "Tafa'olcom" show, where she discussed her story and unconventional lifestyle, significantly broadening her reach within the Arab-speaking world.
