Who is Haifa Beseisso

Haifa Beseisso is a Palestinian travel blogger and content creator from Gaza, best known for her channel "Fly With Haifa," where she shares her global journeys to foster cross-cultural connections. Haifa began her media career as a journalist before dedicating herself fully to her passion for travel and video storytelling, launching her channel in 2014. Her unique content blends travel documentation with human stories and social issues. She has traveled to dozens of countries, focusing on meeting locals, discovering their stories and traditions, and highlighting inspiring or positive aspects of every place she visits, regardless of its challenges. Fluent in both English and Arabic, Haifa has built a global audience, leading to appearances on international travel programs and ambassador roles with major tourism and airline brands. With over 1.5 million followers across YouTube and Instagram, she is known for her motivational catchphrase "Yalla Nefrah" (Let's Celebrate), which she uses to spread positivity. Beyond travel, Haifa addresses mental health and self-development topics—especially for young Arab women—on Snapchat, drawing from her own experiences overcoming challenges. In 2017, the United Nations World Tourism Organization selected her as an influencer for its sustainable tourism campaign. Haifa Beseisso stands as an inspiring example of an ambitious Palestinian woman proudly sharing her heritage and message of peace and joy with the world, building genuine bridges between cultures through her camera and screen.
