Who is Mariam Aldakhil

Mariam Aldakhil is a prominent Kuwaiti entrepreneur and coach, recognized as a leading figure in financial awareness and personal development in the Arab world. She began her professional life as a lawyer after graduating from law school, working in debt collection for seven years. This experience, coupled with her own personal financial challenges, prompted a radical career change and a quest for successful financial management solutions. Her journey into coaching and entrepreneurship stemmed from her personal experiences, leading her to develop a methodology that links financial wealth with inner growth. Aldakhil established her personal brand through which she offers online courses and training programs, impacting over a million students. Her programs aim to transform negative beliefs about money and cultivate an abundance mindset, emphasizing that "wealth begins the moment you decide it's possible." In addition to her coaching work, she has co-founded several investment ventures in Kuwait across diverse sectors, including food, chocolate, gold, and a women's fitness club named "The Spirit".

Achievements of Mariam Aldakhil

Mariam Aldakhil authored the bestselling book "How to Become Rich in 40 Days," published in 2017. The book was a major success, selling over 20,000 copies. It details her personal journey and provides a practical approach to achieving financial abundance by changing one's mindset and daily habits. She has successfully trained over one million students through her digital programs and courses focused on financial literacy and developing a wealth mindset. Aldakhil launched the first comprehensive Arabic curriculum focused on financial literacy and personal wealth growth, establishing herself as a pioneer in this field within the region. She organized "Ghani," the first Arab conference on wealth consciousness, bringing together experts and enthusiasts in the field. Aldakhil has also been featured on numerous television programs, interviews, and prominent podcasts like the "Buthaina Podcast" and "Sowt Al-Riyada," sharing her expertise and insights on money and business.
