

Mohammed Alboinin

Fintech Entrepreneur and Founder

1995 - Qatari - Qatar

Read More

Who is Mohammed Alboinin

Mohammed Alboinin is a Qatari entrepreneur and financial expert, recognized as a prominent figure in the region's Financial Technology (Fintech) sector. He began his career in real estate, founding Tharaa Real Estate Investment and managing various projects, including partnerships with Sak Holding Group under the "Sharekna" program. Subsequently, he established Al Dar Software, a technology company that served as the central hub for managing his real estate operations and tenant contracts. After his business was impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic, Alboinin shifted his focus entirely to the Fintech industry. Drawing on his trading experience, he founded WTraders, a platform specializing in social and copy trading, which attracted approximately 6,000 users in its initial phase. He later evolved this venture to establish Fiper Tech, a comprehensive financial brokerage and integrated trading platform. Fiper aims to simplify access to financial markets for investors in the Gulf region, particularly beginners, by providing advanced analytical tools like AutoChartist and Trading Central, a user-friendly interface, and dedicated customer support.

Achievements of Mohammed Alboinin

Mohammed Alboinin successfully transformed his platform from a social trading concept into a full-fledged financial brokerage firm. His platform received the award for "Best Copy-Trading Platform" in 2025, a testament to the advanced technology developed by him and his team. He founded Fiper Tech, which offers innovative solutions for traders in the region, including plans to launch a dedicated payment card in partnership with Get2Pay to facilitate instant withdrawals and deposits. He also built his platform to operate as an independent financial broker, providing users with a secure and integrated trading experience all in one place.

Read More