Who is Mousaber Chahal

Mousaber Chahal is a Lebanese media personality and digital influencer with extensive experience in broadcast media, who has recently dedicated his career to focusing on parenting, family relations, and social issues through digital platforms. He began his prominent media career in Qatar, working for several years as a presenter for the Qatar Media Corporation, specifically at Quran Radio. During this period, he hosted and produced numerous popular programs, including talk shows and cultural and health-focused broadcasts like "Amsiya," "Saha wa Soum" (Health and Fasting), where he featured doctors and specialists, and the quiz show "As-hem al-Arifeen." Following his career in traditional media, Chahal transitioned to digital platforms, establishing himself as a content creator specializing in family guidance. Through his YouTube, Instagram, and TikTok channels, he delivers short, direct videos addressing modern parenting challenges such as dealing with bullying, homework struggles, and building healthy parent-child relationships. His style is characterized by simplicity and practicality, offering advice and solutions rooted in educational psychology and real-life experiences, which has earned him the trust and viewership of a wide audience of parents in the Arab world. He also hosts a podcast titled "Podcast Ashab," where he interviews various personalities.
