

Nadine Al-Froukh

Jordanian Attorney

Jordanian - Jordan

Read More

Who is Nadine Al-Froukh

Nadine Al-Froukh is a distinguished attorney in Jordan, specializing in personal status and Sharia law cases. Renowned for her clear and direct approach to sensitive family matters—including marriage, divorce, and alimony—she has earned the trust of a wide client base. Her focus on this vital area of law reflects her commitment to social justice and the protection of women's and children's rights within the Jordanian legal framework. Nadine Al-Froukh is recognized as a leading authority on the interpretation and application of Jordanian personal status law, actively contributing to public discussions on legal reforms related to family issues. She has appeared in numerous interviews and on television and radio programs, providing legal insights on topics such as arbitrary divorce and guardianship disputes, underscoring her role as a legal expert and advisor. Leveraging social media platforms—especially Instagram and Snapchat—Nadine Al-Froukh engages directly with the public, offering concise and practical legal advice. Her digital content is bold and clear, empowering individuals with the legal knowledge needed to make informed decisions. This has positioned her as one of the most influential and engaging female legal figures on Jordan's digital landscape.

Read More