Who is Osama Aldghairi

Osama Aldghairi is a Saudi content creator widely known as the "Animal Friend" for his deep passion for raising and interacting with wild animals. He rose to fame on Snapchat by sharing daily life from his private farm, home to a diverse collection of exotic and wild animals including lions, tigers, hyenas, and monkeys. Osama's bold approach and genuine care for these creatures quickly attracted millions of views, making him one of the most-followed Snapchat personalities in Saudi Arabia. His content blends education and entertainment, introducing audiences to animal behavior, proper care techniques, and debunking common misconceptions—all delivered in a simple, engaging style that appeals to both children and adults. Osama is a familiar face at falconry and animal exhibitions across the Kingdom, frequently invited to share his expertise and insights. Despite the inherent risks of his hobby, he has built a remarkable bond of trust with his animals, often showcasing moments of affection and playfulness in his videos. This unique approach has made him a social media phenomenon and a prime example of turning personal passion into influential, crowd-pleasing content. Today, Osama Aldghairi represents a new generation of creative Saudi youth leveraging digital platforms to share knowledge in captivating, unconventional ways.
