Who is Qamar Altaey

Qamar Altaey is a young Iraqi content creator and actress who has emerged as one of the influential personalities in the Arab world. Born in Damascus, Syria, she holds Iraqi nationality. She had an unstable childhood, losing her father at just three months old and moving with her mother between several countries, including Turkey and Iraq, which led her to leave school at an early age. She currently resides in Dubai, United Arab Emirates. Altaey began her social media career in 2020, launching her YouTube channel on June 16 of the same year. She quickly gained widespread fame for her diverse content, which includes vlogs, challenges, comedy, and fashion, building a substantial fanbase. Known for her spontaneous and strong personality, she shares aspects of her personal life and experiences with her followers, including the challenges she has overcome. Her ambitions extended beyond content creation as she pursued her dream of acting. She made her professional acting debut in the Syrian drama series "The Last Seat" (Al Maq'ad Al Akheer), starring alongside renowned actors like Yara Sabry and Jihad Abdo, and received praise for her performance. Altaey aspires to participate in Iraqi and Egyptian dramas in the future, steadily advancing her career by balancing her work as both a content creator and an actress.
