

Raji Fatloun

AI Content Creator & Specialist

Syrian - Turkey

Read More

Who is Raji Fatloun

Raji Fatloun is a Syrian technology content creator and AI specialist currently based in Istanbul, Turkey. He dedicates his work to simplifying artificial intelligence concepts and making them accessible to the Arabic-speaking world through practical, educational content on platforms like YouTube and Instagram. His content focuses on reviewing the latest AI tools and providing detailed tutorials on how to use them effectively for various professional and personal applications, from image and text generation to advanced automation. Before dedicating himself to content creation, Raji gained practical experience in the advertising and design industry in Syria around 2008, where he worked on print ads and commercial banners. Following the significant changes in the country, he briefly transitioned into journalism, experiences that honed his communication and information-delivery skills. Today, he leverages this diverse background to produce high-quality educational videos aimed at empowering Arab youth to keep pace with rapid technological advancements and build promising careers by harnessing AI technologies.

Achievements of Raji Fatloun

Raji Fatloun has successfully established himself as a trusted educational voice in the field of artificial intelligence for the Arabic-speaking community. Through his channels, he provides practical and simplified explanations of complex tools and technologies, helping to bridge the digital knowledge gap for a wide audience interested in modern tech. His content is distinguished by its focus on real-world applications for monetizing and leveraging AI tools, drawing on his prior experience in design and advertising. He presents practical strategies for freelancing and developing small business projects, making his platform a valuable resource for both beginners and professionals seeking to profitably apply these technologies.

Read More