

Rand Dalati

Syrian Author and Content Creator

1998-02-05 - Syrian - United Arab Emirates

Read More

Who is Rand Dalati

Rand Dalati is a Syrian author and content creator based in Dubai, United Arab Emirates. She gained prominence in the digital media landscape through her YouTube channel, "The Datis," which she launched in September 2016 with her sister, Judi. The channel features a variety of content, including lifestyle vlogs and challenges, and has successfully cultivated a large audience. In addition to her work in content creation, Dalati has established herself as a writer. She published her first book, a collection of thoughts and literary texts titled "Fi Qalbi Mulhid" (In My Heart, an Atheist). She followed this with two novels, "Shaikha" and "Hour," solidifying her position as a young author. Her writing often explores social and emotional themes with philosophical depth. Before moving to Dubai, Dalati was an activist in her hometown of Homs during the initial years of the Syrian revolution. She studied journalism at the American University in Dubai and leverages her digital platforms to share content related to fashion, beauty, and lifestyle alongside her literary work.

Achievements of Rand Dalati

Rand Dalati co-launched the successful YouTube channel "The Datis" with her sister Judi in 2016. The channel gained significant traction with its engaging vlogs and challenges, helping establish a substantial follower base across multiple digital platforms. Dalati is a published author of three books. Her debut work, "Fi Qalbi Mulhid" (In My Heart, an Atheist), was widely received. She subsequently released two novels, "Shaikha" and "Hour," demonstrating her literary talent and versatility in transitioning from short-form texts to full-length novels. She has participated in international book fairs, including the Muscat International Book Fair.

Read More