Who is Seham Amjad

Seham Amjad Al-Sayed is a multi-talented Jordanian figure who combines her professional career as a pharmacist with a profound passion for crime literature and content creation. Born in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, in December 1993, she received her primary education there before moving to Amman to complete her secondary and university studies, majoring in Pharmacy. Despite her scientific path, she aspired to become a criminal investigator, a passion she channeled into her writing, leading to her distinction in the crime fiction genre. Her literary career began with the publication of her first novel in 2017. She continued to build on her success with several other novels that garnered attention in literary circles, including "Fi al-Jarimah Shakhs Mafqud" (Someone is Missing in the Crime) and "Nuskha Makhfiyya" (Hidden Copy). In addition to her writing, Seham founded a literary club named "Multaqā Al-Kuttab" (Writers' Forum) in 2020 to support literary talents. She is also an active content creator on social media, where she shares aspects of her professional, literary, and personal life, establishing herself as an influential voice that merges science and literature.

Achievements of Seham Amjad

Seham Amjad has authored three crime novels that have captured the interest of readers and critics. Her published works include "Fi al-Jarimah Shakhs Mafqud" (Someone is Missing in the Crime) released in 2020, "Sir al-Jarima al-Ghamida" (The Secret of the Mysterious Crime) in 2022, and "Nuskha Makhfiyya" (Hidden Copy), a novel blending crime with science fiction, also published in 2022. Her work is characterized by intricate plots and suspense that engages the reader. In 2020, she founded a literary club called "Multaqā Al-Kuttab" (Writers' Forum), a platform aimed at gathering, supporting, and encouraging young literary talents in their writing and publishing journey. This initiative reflects her commitment to enriching the cultural and literary scene in her community. Beyond her literary accomplishments, Seham participated in chess competitions and won first place in a tournament in 2011, highlighting her skills in strategic and analytical thinking.
