Who is Walid Mograbi

Walid Mograbi is a Jordanian software engineer and financial analyst who merges deep technical expertise with a comprehensive understanding of financial markets. He began his professional career at the London Stock Exchange in 2017, where he spent years developing advanced brokerage platforms and collaborating with major banks and financial institutions. This experience led him to manage a dedicated team that creates analytical tools for the stock, forex, and cryptocurrency markets. Driven by a desire to spread financial literacy throughout the Arab world, Walid established a comprehensive online educational platform. Through his YouTube channel and official website, he provides free educational content covering diverse topics such as stock investing, cryptocurrency analysis, capital management, and technical analysis using tools like Japanese candlesticks and the Glassnode platform for on-chain data analysis. In addition to his free content, he offers specialized training programs, including a "From Zero to Professional" trading course and a course on residential real estate investment in Romania, where he currently resides and operates his registered business, "Mograbi Walid Persoană Fizică Autorizată."

Achievements of Walid Mograbi

Walid Mograbi founded the "Arab Personal Finance" educational platform, which aims to empower Arab youth by providing them with the knowledge necessary to achieve financial independence. Through his platforms, he offers a range of specialized training courses, most notably a comprehensive program on real estate investment in Romania and an intensive ten-week trading program. Leveraging his financial market expertise, he has developed specialized content in advanced fields like on-chain analysis, offering his audience deep insights into the movements of major investors and liquidity in the cryptocurrency markets. He also launched the "Nirbah Flous with Walid Mograbi" podcast to discuss economic developments and host experts from the financial field.
