Who is Yazan Nobani

Yazan Zuhair Bishr Mustafa Nobani is a Jordanian actor and comedy content creator, born in Amman on July 12, 1995. Raised in an artistic family—his father is the renowned Jordanian artist Zuhair Nobani—he developed his talent from an early age. Yazan began his content creation journey around 2014, launching his official YouTube channel in February 2015. He quickly gained fame for producing short comedic videos that satirize social situations, excelling in portraying multiple characters that became part of local pop culture, including "Um Naji," "Majham," and "Abu Tala." In 2019, Yazan made a breakthrough by transitioning from digital platforms to television with his own show, "Nobani Show," produced and aired in partnership with Amman TV for several consecutive seasons. In addition to his show, he appeared in TV series such as the comedy "Wlad Khalti" (2020) and the drama "Sara Ahmad" (2025). He founded his own production company, Nobani Productions, and became a brand ambassador for leading companies like Zain Jordan and Capital Bank. By 2025, his fanbase had surpassed 3 million followers on TikTok and 2 million on Instagram.

Achievements of Yazan Nobani

Yazan Nobani was awarded "Best Jordanian Actor" for 2025 at the ICON Global Summit in Amman, in recognition of his widespread impact on both audiences and critics. This honor marks an official acknowledgment of his talent and his successful transition from digital content to professional television productions. His YouTube channel surpassed one million subscribers in September 2019, earning him the YouTube Gold Play Button—a testament to his content's popularity and reach. The channel continued to grow, reaching nearly 3 million subscribers by the end of 2025, with hundreds of millions of total views. In 2023, Yazan was invited as part of a distinguished group of young Jordanians to attend a special Ramadan iftar with Crown Prince Al Hussein bin Abdullah II in Mecca. During the event, the Crown Prince praised Yazan's work, saying he "brings smiles to the faces of Jordanians," a significant recognition of his career.
